

Client Checklist for Deductions

- Mortgage Interest - 1098 (form that's used to report the amount of interest and related expenses paid on a mortgage during the tax year by an individual or a sole proprietor when the amount totals $600 or more)
- Property Taxes (home and /or vehicle located on your vehicle registration)
- Student Loan Interest - 1098-E (If you paid interest on a qualified student loan, you may be able to deduct some or even all of that interest on your federal income tax return)
- Health Savings Account - 1099-SA (form to report distributions from health savings, medical savings, and Medicare Advantage accounts)
- Medical Expenses – (in 2024 you can deduct qualified unreimbursed medical care expenses that exceed 7.5% of your adjusted gross income, must be itemized)
- Charitable Donation receipts
- Tuition - 1098-T (form provides the details that can help you (or your parents/guardians) claim a tax credit for the tuition expense for higher education)
- Child Care Expenses (daycare, summer camp, etc)
- Educator Expenses – (for 2024, an eligible educator can deduct up to $300 of qualifying expenses)